FACTOID:
 Despite that four of the major yards in Baltimore are on this map, there really isn't all that much to do - Mainline action on the CSX is fairly easy to be had, but Corridor shots are difficult to get because so much is built up around it, and fences take care of the rest.

MAP 10

Almost all of the grade crossings with the Canton RR are good photo spots.

Access to most NS operations is tough, because the engines usually lay over in the middle and there is no good photo spot.

Stopping on the 95 or 895 bridges is not a real good idea, because the Toll Police are always cruising.
