Factoid

Hurricane Agnes came thru in 72, taking with it a lot of RR RoW and oodles of bridges on the B&O, WM & NC. The B&O and WM rebuilt, the financially strapped Penn Central choose not to rebuild the line to York. Big mistake. Now that Amtrak has a daytime ban on freights because of the Chase train wreck in 87, freights coming down from Harrisburg on the Port road have to wait till 10pm to get on the corridor. They shoulda fixed it up. The WM bridge in Owings Mills is one that came down in that storm.

Factoid

Metro RoW in the middle of I-795
 The MTA had to limit the speed of the Metro trains from 70 to 60mph so people racing them wouldn't exceed the speed limit on I-795
